IN THE COURT

Trial of the case of Eugene McAuliffe against John F. Burke and the Klamath Livestock Mortgage Loan company opened this morning at 10 o'clock before Circuit Judge A. L. Leavitt. In which McAuliffe is seeking to recover $1,200 for wages due as a shepherd, and $250 for farm labor, having filed a lien in both cases. A total of $300 as attorney's fees is asked in the complaint. The morning session was taken up by the testimony of the plaintiff, McAuliffe, and his witnesses. It is expected that the case will be submitted to the court late today.

Marx vs. Klamath Pine
Suit involving $470.11 for labor, was filed by Wm. Marx against the Klamath Pine Manufacturing company on an assigned claim.

THE LIBERTY

"Daring Danger," the Western photo-drama starring Pete Morrison and which is the feature attraction at the Liberty theatre tonight, introduces a new kind of Western thriller with many new Western thrills devised by Pete Morrison, rodeo champ, and "Brownie," his celebrated pony costar.

A handsome cowpuncher mounted on a handsome steed offers a combination that is hard to beat for the edification of the movie fan in their screen entertainment. In "Daring Danger," Pete Morrison as Cal Horton and "Brownie" give a wonderful exhibition of horsemanship and many new thrills are introduced.

Pete Morrison achieves new laurels in this Western thriller, and his many followers will not be disappointed in the way of thrills when they see him in his latest cinema success, "Daring Danger."

THE STRAND

The nightly revels at Diamond Terry's dance hall had begun. The bar and the dance floor of "The Palace" were crowded by miners and the painted women of the rough mining town of Hellwen. The little settlement had sprung up over night when it was learned that young John Waterman had struck it rich in the hills nearby.

Round about the rugged mountains lifted their wooded heads into the sky. Here there could be seen bare spots where prospectors had attempted to force the earth to yield up the golden treasure that lay beneath its surface.

The floor was alive with swaying couples when Klondike Jim burst in upon the scene. He scanned the crowd of women until his eyes rested upon the beautiful young woman who was simply known as "Gal."

Gal had come from, no one knew where. Early in the spring the Indians had found her wandering helplessly in the woods, bereft of reason and of any remembrance of her past. The climax of the story is one of the most interesting—indeed, unforgettable at the Strand tonight.

THE STAR

"Peck's Bad Boy," tonight at the Star theatre, in which Jackie Coogan shines, contains many things other than comedy situations. There is a strong love theme throughout its episodes. Dainty Doris May and Wheeler Oakman provide this. Miss

May, who is known as "the sweetest girl on the screen," was never sweeter than in her portrayal of Jackie's big sister in the Peck film, and Wheeler Oakman does some very clever work as the young doctor who falls in love with Jackie's big "sis."

When "Peck's Bad Boy" is flashed on the screen one of the cleverest dog players will be seen in an important role. "Queenie" is her name. She is Jackie Coogan's pal and partner. "Queenie," according to her master, understands 500 English-spoken words and can perform any feat any other canine actor of stage or screen can do.
